BILL MCKIBBEN IN NEW ZEALAND

A climate change maths lesson that might just change the world.

Internationally acclaimed climate change activist, best-selling author, journalist, and founder of 350.org, Bill McKibben is bringing his sell-out Do The Maths talk to New Zealand!

It's simple maths: we can burn less than 565 more gigatons of CO₂ and stay below 2°C of warming. The only problem? Fossil fuel corporations now have 2,795 gigatons in their reserves, five times the safe amount. And they're planning to burn it all — unless we do the maths to change our future.
